

1. General Requirements

- All listings on the platform must be unique and authentic, reflecting the culture, traditions and spirit of Osh.
 - Misinformation, inconsistency between the declared content and reality is prohibited.
 - Businesses, artisans and event organizers are required to comply with local laws and safety regulations.
 - Descriptions must be clear, complete and honest, including details of cost, conditions and expectations from guests.
-

2. Quality Standards for Events and Tours

- Organizers must have relevant qualifications, experience or expertise in their field.
 - Offers must include a unique format, exclusive access or an unconventional perspective on a topic.
 - It is important to ensure interactivity and involvement of participants, avoiding the format of a traditional
 - Organizers are obliged to inform guests about possible risks and take necessary precautions.
 - Minimal cancellations by the organizer. Cancellation is possible only in case of force majeure.
-

3. Standards for artisans and manufacturers

- All products presented must be original, of high quality and locally produced.
 - It is important to honestly indicate the origin of materials and manufacturing technology.
 - The sale of counterfeits, products of inadequate quality or goods that violate copyright is prohibited.
 - If a master class is offered, it must be practical, with the possibility of independent participation by guests.
-

4. Standards for local businesses

- Businesses must offer quality service and products.
 - Descriptions must be truthful and not misleading (including prices, services and availability).
 - Any form of discrimination or unethical behavior towards guests is prohibited.
 - It is important to maintain a clean, comfortable and friendly atmosphere.
-

5. Prohibited categories

The Open Osh platform does not host:

- Businesses or events that violate the law.
- Offers with false information.
- Political, religious actions, campaigns and propaganda.
- Activities that threaten the safety of guests.

We are committed to providing a safe and enjoyable space to explore Osh. Thank you to all platform participants for your dedication to quality and respect for our community!